HOME MISSIONARY MEETING

AT BROADWAY PARISH HOUSE

Miss Yeomans Tells of the Work at Fisk University-Colored Race Improving.

There was a large attendance at the home missionary meeting held at the Broadway church parish house Friday afternoon. The ladies of the Friday churches were invited to hear the address given by Miss Frances Yeomans of Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn.

Rev. Dr. Pratt conducted the opening devotional exercises and spoke a few words of greeting and of introduction for Miss Yeomans. Her address was most interesting. She has been working among the colored people for twenty-six years—seven years at Talegades and the others at Fisk University—and has a thorough knowledge of the work and a deep understanding of the people and their needs.

Additional Information Filed Against Woman--Defense

Endeavoring to Prove an Alibi--Annie Foster for Defendant Makes Admission by Mistake--Attorneys

Continue Tilts.

The superior court room door was pulled off its hinges by the crowd in its efforts to get into the room to hear the evidence in the case of the state vs. Addie Burns. Every chair was occupied and once inside it was necessary to stand and a record after going out it was not easy to get back again. Some spent the entire day there, and some a record testimony during the day and two witnesses were called for the defense and from the testimony it is evident that an attempt will be made to prove an alibi, it being claimed that Addie Burns was not in New London when the alleged offense occurred.

Returning to the case, the witness stand at the opening of court and continued the story of the check system, but the state's attorney said that Morris Blanking sold clothing there in January, 1907. She did not know of clothing being bought for May

Burns.

Girl's Mother Testified.

Attorney Ailing called Mrs. Kate

Burns of New Haven, wife of Michael Burns and mother of May Burns and John Burns, who were the defendants in August, 1901, in Danbury. She nursed her early in 1907 and complaint was made to Chief Wynn at New Haven, Conn. She said she had nursed her again in March of that year, when she returned home, accompanied by Grace White, the girl's sister, and John Burns, who was then in New London, where she had been assaulted.

After her testimony the state rested.

McNulty's Testimony Heard.

Attorney Goodhart claimed to the court that John McNulty, who, it is known, was a witness in the case of London, had been summoned by the state and used as an exhibit, but not called to testify. After a little argument the court allowed the state to call McNulty to the stand. He is a young man, good looking and small of stature, but pale. He testified that he was in New London months before they went to New London. He denied threatening to shoot her or promising to get her work in a shop. He said he saw her to get her a place where she could live and have fine clothes, as she knew some fast girls who did. He said she had a little money and any place but that for her. Later he heard of the Burns house and May claimed she had no heart of it through a friend who was there. She said she had been in New York for two weeks with an other girl and her family did not care.

The sister was about to adjourn court.

The objection came at such a time that it might have been an objection to the court's holding that the state was to make objections and interruptions, informing the attorneys when they began to object at once and Judge Wheeler ruled that one lawyer on a side hereafter must do the objecting and that the other must wait until he was called to the stand. The objection was overruled and the court adjourned until Tuesday morning.

FROELICHKEIT MASQUERADE.

Grand Time Enjoyed in Talman Street

Hall.

The Gearyverein Froelichkeit held one of its most successful masquerades

Friday evening in its hall on Talman street, having a line that stretched completely around the hall when the grand march was under way. A contender from Springfield was present to furnish rigs, and among the characters represented were seen Columbus, bullfighter, Turk, Indian chief, Mediam, cowboy, Spanish ladies and dominos.

Leading the march were Joseph Perkins, George and Andrew Connor with their partners. The music was by the Kraus orchestra, and the supper furnished during the evening by the committee of the Froelichkeit society, which included Henry Oppermann,

Joseph Pringer, Gus Thumm and Frank Koler.

Stopped the Sliding.

As the children sliding in Church and Union streets persisted in going where they were told not to, Chief Murphy was obliged to shut it off altogether on Thursday afternoon. He was willing they should go down one hill and up the foot of the other, but they wanted to go across Union square.

Ira Meth was struck and knocked down by one of the sliders in the afternoon and was attended by Dr. Harris.
